

ABSTRACT

Systems and methods for organizing and aiding the interpretation of large amounts of data are disclosed. One embodiment of the system, among others, includes receiving gene names, associating the gene names to gene-word pair relationships, and grouping the gene names with high strength of gene-word relationships, the strength of the gene-word relationships corresponding to the relatedness in function of corresponding grouped genes.

5